TARIFF REMARKS.

N. Y. Press: When the duty on foreign goods is reduced, the amount of drawback paid will be $2,771,224.99.

Under the McKinley tariff law, which returns to the exporting manufacturer 99 per cent of the duties paid on foreign materials, the amount of drawback collected during 1891 to $4,911,189.54.

Our manufacturers now enjoy, practically, all the benefits which free trade materials could give, yet the free trade is not happy.

STILL THEY COME.

Yesterday a large party from Kansas arrived at Tempe and will make the Salt River valley their future home. During the past week a number of persons from Riverside, Cal., located land under the Woldley canal in the Gila valley, and will become residents of Arizona. The territorial papers announce other arrivals at various portions of the territory, making it difficult to conceive the enormous tide of immigration that has now set in for Arizona.

The people in less favored regions are beginning to understand the superior inducements that we have to offer in the way of climate and resources and are not slow in taking advantage of it. Those now here have written to their friends and they have told others; and thus it is that everyone has heard of Arizona, and those who are not coming want to.

Our fame as a fruit country and our reputation as an asylum in which to escape the cold and rigorous blasts of northern winters have gone abroad, and thousands of people are coming, as a result.

Arizona has seen her days of hardship and privation, and people now locating here have only to begin where the pioneer has left off. They have only to commence where everything is within their grasp, and instead of many years, there will be but few years of waiting.

Railroads and telegraphs have been built, canals dug and cities made. The pioneer has accomplished his work, and has done it well. The new settlers in Arizona will find the way prepared for their coming, and fortunes within easy reach.

The great wealth of the territory is ready for development, and the gates are thrown open to outsiders, who are invited to come and help themselves. Those neglecting the opportunity should remember that Fortune knocks but once, and if they do not come to Arizona now they may never have another opportunity to earn a competency for themselves and families.

WHAT THE DEMOCRACY IS FOR.

A democratic newspaper declares that the contest for the speakership is merely personal and "does not involve any question of what the Democratic party stands for, for concerning that there is no question." This is something that nobody will dispute. The nation thoroughly understands what the Democratic party is for. It is for the abolition of the tariff that has made the American workingman the best paid and most prosperous in the world. It is for British free trade that would destroy the commercial independence of the United States and expose American industries to the direct competition of pauper foreign labor. It is for a policy that would put out the factory fires, stop the machinery of the manufacturing establishments that supply the American markets with American goods and make the United States once more an agricultural nation, chiefly dependent upon Great Britain for its manufactured products.

This is first and foremost what the Democratic party is for. Incidentally, it is for several other things, such as the degradation of the laborer's dollar, the suppression of the freedom of the ballot wherever it has the power, and the stealing of state legislatures when it can get the chance. There is, indeed, no doubt as to what the party of Mills, Hill, Gorman and Cleveland represents. That is the reason why three-fourths of the intelligent citizens of every northern and western state are solidly against it.

THE DEEDS of property in Odessa, Texas, provided against the sale of liquor, and that the property should revert to the town company in case of violation of the clause, but in one deed the clause was omitted, and the purchaser of the lot is selling so much liquor that only an injunction can stop him.

THERE is a movement in regular army circles for the restoration of the old army "field hat," which was superseded by the helmet, of which many officers have complained. The old-style hat was picturesque, comfortable and serviceable, while the helmet is top-heavy and does not give proper ventilation.

EX-SENATOR THURMAN, of Ohio, who has just celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday, was elected to Congress in 1844 as its youngest member, and retired from the Senate ten years ago.

A CITIZEN of Scott township, Pennsylvania, coughed up a beechnut shuck that had gotten into his lungs sixteen years previously, and saved himself from death by consumption.

AN indication of advancing civilization among the red men, it is announced that the Yuma Indians of California are to build a theater of their own.

IT took 60,000 cars to transport the grapes of the United States to market last year.

This will be the second largest year in the number of immigrants to America.

JOHN G. WHITTIER will be 84 years old on December 17.

ARIZONA AND ARIZONIANS.

Arizona society is as cosmopolitan as that of Paris. All tastes and inclinations can be pleased. You simply pay your money and take your choice.

The man is said to be happy who can count all men as his friends. Secretary N. O. Murphy must be a happy man, for it is doubtful if he has a real enemy in Arizona.

Californians are looking toward Arizona. During the past week parties from Riverside filed on 5,100 acres of land under the Woldley canal in the Gila Valley.

There are counties in Arizona larger than many of our New England states, and the territory is larger than all of New England combined. Arizona is a vast domain rich in gold, silver, cattle, sheep, fruit and grain. Opportunities are presented in Arizona that cannot be found anywhere else in the world. Arizona is the only El Dorado now extant.

The new residence of General Clark Churchill, which is now nearing completion, will not only be the finest edifice in Arizona but will be the handsomest and most costly between St. Louis and the Pacific Coast. It has been a long time since Arizona abandoned the adobe, and now the territory lays claim to some of the best buildings in the country.

A New York dispatch says: "S. G. Fleischman, the talented California pianist and composer, met with great success here last night. His overture 'Hero and Leander,' was produced at the Seid concert and received praise from all sides. The morning papers speak in the highest terms of the composition." As Mr. Fleischman is a relative of the Fleischman's of this city, Arizona will share with California, the honors that have been won by her talented son.

It is a favorite saying of the new comers that the old time Arizona is not so big as it used to be. It is a good many of the tender feet belong to the slow coach variety, while the old-timer is improving the country and making money. J. D. Monihan, who was one of the first men to locate in the Salt River Valley, owns the largest building in the territory, and takes an interest in everything that helps to build up Arizona. More men like Mr. Monihan, though he is an old-timer, is the great necessity of this country.

MINERS AND MINING.

Among the most interesting exhibits in the mines and mining building at the World's Fair will be a collection of the implements used by the "fortyminers" in California. Commissioner Mark L. McDonald has undertaken to collect a number of relics of the old miners' fraternity and send them to the Fair. Chief Skiff has also promised an old placer plan in complete hydraulic operation. He will also have an exhibit of the primitive methods employed by the early miners of New Mexico and Arizona in reducing ores.

Some wonderfully rich ore is being encountered in the bottom of the main shaft of the Distaff mine at Chloride. A thirty pound chunk of solid native silver was recently forwarded to Denver, Colorado, as a specimen, and solid chunks of silver as large as one's fist are being taken out daily with the ore. The specimens closely resemble the rich ore taken from the Kural mine, several years ago by the late T. J. Christie. Chas. Sherman, the former owner, has received the first payment from the Denver mining and mining company out of the royalty, and the amount of the first payment was $10,000.

Ed. Gillespie, while prospecting recently on the north side of the Bradshaw range, ran across a ledge on Blind Indian Creek, about ten miles from the Hassayampa. He brought specimens of the ore into Prescott, and a few days ago returned with John Ross to make further investigations. They returned from the new find bringing in more samples, which they are now having assayed. The ledge can be distinctly traced on the surface for a distance of 1600 feet, and has an average width of two feet. At one place they came across a kind of "blow-out" where it widened to 12 feet. The ore contains gold, silver and copper, some of it at first sight resembling horn silver very much. Its value, however, can only be determined by the result of the assay.

Irma Moore and Bowen Waterman, of Prescott, have prospected their new gold find on the Hassayampa, for about 100 feet along the surface, and have found an abundance of high grade rock for that entire distance. In fact, while they have done comparatively little work on the property as yet, the little they have done shows up so rich that they have commenced putting up an arastra to crush the ore. John Ross, who stopped at the arastra yesterday, says that in a piece of rock which he saw, which would weigh less than 100 pounds, he estimated that there was fully $10 or $12 in gold in it, the rock fairly glistening with the precious metal. He says the boys have a bonanza and no mistake, if the ore holds out below, as it shows up on top. The piece of rich ore is about ten inches in width.

How to Make Good Bacon.

I got it into my head that it is damper not worth that does the mischief. When, therefore, I built my smokehouse I set it two feet from the ground, made the walls tight and dark with matched boxing and battens, floored it with matched, tongued and grooved 1 1/2-inch flooring, sheeted the rafters solid with dress stuff and covered with cypress shingles. Then put in a door that when shut left the interior as dark as midnight. In this room I placed a box (sufficiently large to pack down a ton of pork) made of matched tongued and grooved ceiling with a lid on (sufficiently large to pack down a ton of pork) made of matched tongued and grooved ceiling with a lid on (sufficiently large to pack down a ton of pork) made of matched tongued and grooved ceiling with a lid on.

THE DEEDS of property in Odessa, Texas, provided against the sale of liquor, and that the property should revert to the town company in case of violation of the clause, but in one deed the clause was omitted, and the purchaser of the lot is selling so much liquor that only an injunction can stop him.

than seventy-five pounds of salt to 1,000 pounds of pork. Let lay in a box three or four weeks, then took out joints and middlings, washed well in hot water and hung up in the dark room and body of the smokehouse until perfectly dry, say two or three weeks, took down again and packed in a box and let it lie until used. During the five years I never lost a piece of meat, never had any to drip, never found a gill of water in my packing box, and never ate sweeter, finer meat in my life. I never cased or canned a joint and never saw a skipper.

A Peace Congress Delegate.

The United States will be represented at the Universal Peace congress, which meets at Rome, Italy, next month, by Mrs. Mary Frost Ormsby, who has gained prominence of late as a champion of economic reforms and the single tax doctrine. She has long been an active member of the Society, and is a member of that society's committee on house and home. Mrs. M. F. Ormsby, home. She belongs to the executive board of the Universal Peace union, and is vice president of the Woman's National Peace association. Mrs. Ormsby is a vigorous and independent thinker and occasionally utters views that startle her hearers.

The Mountains are shrinking.

Four different mountain peaks in Idaho are from thirteen to twenty-three feet lower by actual measurement than they were fifteen years ago, and it is believed that this settling is going on with many others. The idea is that quicksands have undermined them.—New York Advertiser.

Stage Kisses.

Emma V. Sheridan says there is "no more sensation in a stage kiss than there is in a stage murder. Stage kisses should be as common as stage fire or stage gun. Murdering and fighting, shouting and kissing are done on the stage because the lines or the situations of the play demand them."

German Syrup.

"German Syrup" The majority of well-read physicians now believe that Consumption is a germ disease. In other words, instead of being in the constitution itself it is caused by innumerable small creatures living in the lungs having no business there and eating them away as caterpillars do the leaves of trees.

A Germ Disease. The phlegm that is coughed up is those parts of the lungs which have been gnawed off and destroyed. These little bacilli, as the germs are called, are too small to be seen with the naked eye, but they are very much alive just the same, and enter the body in our food, in the air we breathe, and through the pores of the skin. Thence they get into the blood and finally arrive at the lungs where they fasten and increase with frightful rapidity. Then German Syrup comes in, loosens them, kills them, expels them, heals the places they leave, and so nourish and soothe that, in a short time consumptives become germ-proof and well.
